

Environmental policy

Texsolv's aim is to create an active environmental thinking with preventative measures in daily work in the manufacture of our weaving and rope products.

The business must always work to meet the authorities 'and customers' requirements in the form of legislation, regulations and local rules.

Our environmental impact takes place primarily in production and our staff must therefore constantly seek improvements that minimize the environmental impact of production and protect the environment. Our environmental work must lead to constant improvements.

This means that:

- We regularly collect knowledge on environmental issues, laws and regulations, and we also do checks on layer compliance.
- We conduct dialogue with customers and other stakeholders to investigate requirements, shortcomings and needs, and ensures that these are met.
- We work actively to establish environmental goals that both reduce the impact on the environment and contributes to better profitability.
- We constantly work to reduce the impact on the external environment by minimizing energy consumption and sorting all types of waste generated in the processes.
- We work to increase staff environmental awareness through information, education and clear routines.
